

Pope Francis has asked us all to think deeply about caring for our common home. The children in the picture are doing that. What could you do this week to find out more about ways you can take care of the Earth?

